WORLD NEWS IN REVIEW

WHO'S THAT IN OUR BACKYARD?

American delegates en route to the Pan-American conference in Lima, Peru had something to ponder upon long before they reached the conference tables. In Central America the delegates found that German trade and influence there had more than quadrupled since 1933 when Adolph Hitler came to power. So far, experts say, American merchants have held their own, Germany's exports increasing at the expense of other nations, particularly Great Britain.

Trade advisers admit that Germany's competition will be stronger than ever in 1939 when she reorganizes her export and import structure following absorption of Austria and Sudetenland.

As a further note of alarm, Germany's purchases from Central America are rapidly increasing, giving her added reason for demanding that the six republics, long regarded as the U. S. backyard, buy still more from her.

FRESHER FIELDS

Italy's eye is wandering again in search for richer and greener fields for conquest. France is holding her north African protectorate of Tunisia with a tightened civil and military grip in the face of Italy's clamor for this territory bordering on the fascist possession of Libya.

BROADER SCOPE

Indications are that next month congress will forget its preoccupation with local pork-barreling and such and begin its most important and far-reaching discussion of foreign affairs since the World War.

Advance reports indicate that the legislators will spend many weeks in review of foreign relations and problems. Most important legislation to come before the two houses may be President Roosevelt's proposal for overhauling national defenses.

MOONEY AGAIN

Once in a hundred years or so a criminal case will catch the public fancy and provide years of heated discussion, argument and agitation. Such is the Mooney case.

Just what is the verdict of the public after 22 years? How widely does the public know Tom Mooney?

To answer these questions the American Institute of Public Opinion has interviewed a carefully selected cross section of the voting population in all parts of the United States, including working men and business men, farmers, housewives and persons on relief rolls. Using a staff of 700 field investigators in selected areas, the institute has asked:

"Would you like to see the new governor of California free Tom Mooney?"

Today, as the Mooney case heads for a showdown, the institute's survey reveals two salient facts about the public's attitude:

First—Tom Mooney has become a familiar symbol to 85 American voters in every 100. In the institute's survey only 15 voters in every 100 say they have "never heard of Mooney." The Mooney case is best known in the East and along the Pacific coast.

Second—Of those having an opinion about Mooney, two-thirds of the voters interviewed say they would like to see him set free. The actual vote is:

For freeing Mooney ..... 66 per cent
Against freeing ..... 34 per cent

U S GOVERNMENT TO ESTABLISH NEW CEMETERY

Site Located On El Camino Opposite Tanforan Race Track

United States military and veteran dead soon will rest in a new national cemetery located on a 160-acre site directly opposite Tanforan race track at San Bruno.

The government announced Saturday that it had purchased the property on the northwest corner of El Camino Real and Sneath Lane from the Jersey Farm Co. for $169,000, a price of slightly over $1000 per acre.

The cemetery, to be one of three national cemeteries on the Pacific Coast, is to replace the San Francisco Presidio cemetery, which will be filled within two years, according to the government report to the California Title Co. branch at Redwood City, which handled the deal.

The cemetery will be used as the last resting place for Army, Navy, Marine Corps and veteran dead, just as are the Presidio Cemetery and

San Francisco Residents Not Aware Of Advantages On Peninsula

"Believe it or not" (with apologies to Ripley), many San Franciscans still think of The Peninsula as an isolated area "way off in the country!"

Officers and directors of San Francisco Peninsula, Inc. rubbed their eyes in amazement when they contemplated the results of their recent survey in the metropolitan area.

Among the reasons given for not moving down The Peninsula, were: "Too far from friends or relatives in San Francisco"—"don't like living in the country"—"not in favor of small town life"—"children in city schools," etc. etc.

MISCONCEPTION

"It is apparent," said a local director of S. F. P. I., "that some San Franciscans are more provincial than their 'country cousins.' Most of these, no doubt, are 'old-timers' who have resided in the city for 20 years or more, and who still subconsciously think of this area not as a group of

Jeff Union Hi Jazz Band Is Organized

(Editor's note — The following statement issued through the office of Principal James Ferguson explains one of the many ways in which Jefferson Union high school is contributing to the welfare of the youth of this district through a modern educational program. "The philosophy of our high school," declares Principal Ferguson, "is that youth is entitled to constructive guidance in every interest and activity.)

"The first concern of the principal of a school is to develop and perfect the innate talent of those whose training is entrusted to him. As a matter of fact, this is the concern of every teacher and of every person who is responsible for the training and development of our youth. This means that the teacher in the modern school must be qualified to discover the interests, abilities, perplexities, and needs of his students. He must then be able to draw upon the resources of his broad fields of instruction to provide the necessary learning experiences.

"Years ago schools and colleges were concerned merely with those subjects which were supposed to be necessary accomplishments of an educated man. In the grade school, the curriculum embraced the three R's and very little more. High schools and colleges went a little further, but refined and accomplishing fields such as the fine arts were neglected or when taught, these subjects were offered only to a select few. In short, the primary emphasis in the school was formerly memoritor learning and acquiring so-called tool skills with no regard paid to attitudes, appreciations and modes of behavior.

CHANGE

"Such is not the case today. Up-to-date schools have their art and music appreciation classes and orchestras, and a few schools have their student jazz bands as well.

"We are happy to say that Jefferson Union High school belongs to the latter class, because not only have we a concert orchestra but we also have a modern jazz band. We believe that this band has an educational and commercial value, besides arousing popular interest and furnishing a number of students with a worthwhile and entertaining hobby. Why we all appreciate the compositions of the famous masters like Mozart, Bach, and Beethoven, we must also recognize that modern or swing music is popular today.

"Our own American dance forms have as much right to consideration, as bases for modern music, as did hornpipes, sarabandes, jigs, and gavottes in the days of Bach and Handel or the minuets of Mozart's day. The border line between the classical

Hope Rapid Bus Service To SF Soon

Daly City's proposed municipal bus line into San Francisco was discussed Wednesday at a conference between Mayor Paul G. Selmi and Administrator Alfred J. Cleary of San Francisco.

The conference followed Monday's meeting of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors when Daly City's application for a permit to operate the proposed bus line was refered to Supervisors Frederick Meyers and John Ratto for investigation and a report at the next meeting.

During the discussion between Mayor Selmi and Administrator Cleary, Mr. Cleary telephoned Supervisor Ratto and requested that intense effort be made to speed action and clear all legal obstacles in order that service might immediately be established on the proposed route over Alemany boulevard and Junipero Serra boulevard to connect with the Municipal railway line at Twin Peaks tunnel.

It is expected that service over this route will give Daly City residents 30 minute transportation to down town areas.

Jack Anderson Is Honored Here

Congressman-elect John (Jack) Anderson was honored Saturday afternoon at a luncheon party at Villa Mateo. Nearly one hundred prominent north county citizens and their friends attended the affair. Joseph Sarto was host and Judge Rudolph A. Rapsey was toastmaster.

"I am making a tour of my entire district," stated Jack Anderson, "in order that I may meet as many as possible of my constituents, learn their needs, and represent their interests in Congress. I am going to Washington to discharge all of my job to the best of my ability.

"I have no grievance with the present administration," Anderson continued, "but I am convinced there are certain policies and programs which need adjustment. I am going to lend my best efforts to furthering the social and economic progress of our entire country."

Congratulatory talks were delivered by representatives of north county communities.

Fast Coast 3-Year-Old In Handicap

Specify, regarded as the fastest three-year-old on the Pacific coast, and one of the top flight horses of his age on the American turf, will be a starter in the $10,000 San Francisco handicap at Tanforan Saturday, December 17.

Bert Baroni, owner, advised Tanforan officials that Specify is to be shipped to Tanforan late this week. He reported engagement of Jockey Charles Corbett to ride the colt.

Specify fought Lawrin to a nose in the Hollywood Special—a grand effort; he won the Hollywood Derby, defeating High Strike by 2 lengths; he finished second to Seabiscuit in the Hollywood Gold Cup, after cutting out a terrific pace in which he opened up twelve lengths and in that race finished in front of Whichcee and Ligaroti.

When Hollywood closed Specify was thrown out of training, going into retirement in perfect shape.

Baroni has cautiously brought the horse to form.

Presence of Specify in the San Francisco handicap field, where he must match strides with Ligaroti, Main Man, Magic Hour, Sweepalot, Ossabaw, adds class and color to the scrap.

The mile and sixteenth route of the San Francisco handicap seems exactly to his fancy.

Nominations for the San Francisco handicap close Saturday.

Additional entries from Santa Anita Park are expected.

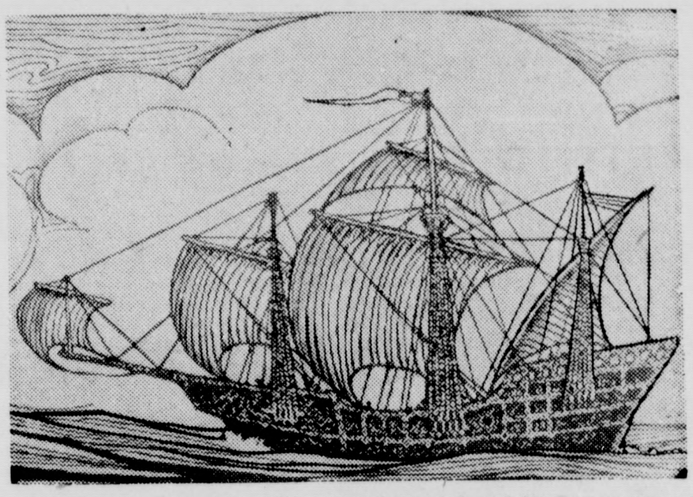
Drake Brass Plate Genuine, Say Experts



Pronounced genuine, the plate of brass found two years ago on the shores of San Francisco Bay is one and the same plate that Sir Francis Drake affixed to a stout post on the shores of Drake's Bay, Cal., in 1579, claiming the region for Queen Elizabeth. Colin B. Fink, head of the division of electro-chemistry of Columbia University, and E. P. Polushkin, consulting metallurgical engineer of New York, two of the world's most famous experts in the field of metallurgy, made the announcement that the brass plate, found by Beryle W. Shinn of Oakland, Cal., was of sixteenth century origin. Top photo shows Sir Francis Drake and lower photo shows his stout little ship, the Golden Hind. The plate was originally found in 1934 on the shores of Drake's Bay by William Caldeira, a chauffeur, who threw it away some weeks later.

Accidents Claim Lives Of Two Men

Two men met death Saturday in San Mateo county accidents, one the victim of an automobile and the other killed by a train near Brisbane.

Run down by an automobile as he alighted from a street car at Mission street and Vista Grande avenue during Friday night's rainstorm, Charles Grassi, 62-year-old San Francisco newspaper composing room employe, died at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Vista Grande Resident

Grassi, who resided at 389 Vista Grande avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by George Wade Currey, 18, a barber, living at 452 Santa Barbara avenue, police said.

Grassi suffered a crushed chest, fractured skull and had both legs broken. He succumbed at Junipero Serra hospital. His body was taken to the W. C. Lasswell and Company chapel.

He had resided in Daly City about 20 years. Surviving are his widow and a son.

Grassi was the fifty-third person to die in San Mateo county automobile accidents since January 1 and the sixteenth since November 6. The county's traffic death toll at this time last year was sixty-three.

Itinerant Killed

An unidentified man, apparently an itinerant, was ground to death beneath the wheels of a train. His mangled body was found at 2 a. m. Saturday on the Southern Pacific tracks near the Visitacion station by the crew of a south bound freight train.

The body had been dragged more than a quarter of a mile, apparently by another south bound train.

Hope To Widen 101 El Camino Real

Hopes that El Camino Real between Redwood City and Palo Alto may be widened in the next biennium were strengthened this week with favorable action by the state committee on roads and highways of the State Chamber of Commerce.

The inclusion of $1,250,000 for the work in the next state budget was approved previously by the Central Coast Counties section of the committee.

Included in the state chamber's reccommendations recently, according to Planning Advisor Ronald Campbell, who attended the committee meeting, was approval of one million dollars for the Ocean Shore boulevard from the state and district.

CHRISTMAS TREE IN LOCAL LIBRARY

The Yuletide spirit has entered the children's section of Daly City's library.

Mrs. J. O'Rourke, librarian, and her assistant Miss Mary Lewis have artistically decorated a Christmas tree and placed it in the juvenile section. Multi-colored lights and sparkling crystal decorations of the tree greet patrons as they enter the library.

Postmaster Wm. McCarthy To Be Guest

SCOUT PARTICIPATION

Daly City's new post office will be dedicated Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be opened to public service immediately, postal authorities announced today at a conference with the local chamber of commerce secretary.

Brief lively dedication ceremonies have been arranged for Sunday afternoon by committee members of the Daly City Chamber of Commerce. It will be followed by an inspection tour of the new office.

Postmaster McCarthy is to be guest speaker of the afternoon. Mayor Selmi and other local civic leaders will make short addresses.

The Daly City Band will play for ceremonies while local boy and girl scout units will officiate at a flag raising feature.

XMAS SERVICE

The new post office is built for the future, was the statement issued from Postmaster McCarthy's office this week. It will provide ample lobby space for patrons and working quarters for employees. Postal service in Daly City this Christmas will be excellent, a Record representative was assured.

Superintendent A. Raymond and the crew of nine carriers here will probably be transferred to the new quarters next week.

PICK FEATURES FOR GALA XMAS THEATER PARTY

All Local Children Invited To Attend D. C. Theater Free December 23

William G. Smeltzer, manager of the Daly City Theater, and community Christmas party program committee today announced they had selected a top flight moving picture bill for the gala children's party December 23. Feature film will be "The Circus Clown" starring Joe E. Brown and Patricia Ellis. "Pigs Is Pigs," a merry-melody color cartoon, and "Backyard Broadcast," a clever kiddie revue, are the shorts.

The general committee, headed by Peter Markovich, announced that arrangements are being made to show Daly City children the "time of their life" at the free theater party Friday afternoon before Christmas.

Mrs. Ethel Dorn, chairman of the presents committee, revealed that every child upon leaving the theater would receive a surprise present. H. G. King, heading a committee of hosts, is preparing to handle a capacity crowd at the theater.

Miss Rose's Dancing Academy, The Erna Slee Guitar Studio, and the Golden Gate Conservatory of Music are arranging colorful musical and dancing stage attractions.

"Minerva's Fort" Is Sold For $200

"Mother Minerva's" historic "fort" which stood on stilts on El Camino Real between Lawndale and Colma realized only $200 in settlement of her estate—and that subject to lifting a $3681.52 lien held by the county.

"Mother Minerva"—Minerva Hartman, who claimed to have been an army nurse through three wars—received $3681.52 from the county from August, 1923, until she died in the flames of her "fort" March 25, 1937, court records revealed.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Burress Karmel, as attorney for the public administrator, asked the court for authority to sell the real estate and turn the $200 over to the county in return for cancellation of the lien.

Karmel said Mother Minerva, who defended the "fort" with a Civil War musket when state authorities sought to evict her to make way for widening of the Colma bottleneck, left $770 in cash, apparently saved from the old age pension advanced by the county.

This sum will be used to defray administration expenses, the balance applying to the county's claim.

Mother Minerva was 104 when she died.

As Santa Anita closes on March 11—Tanforan will open on a Saturday one week later, giving horsemen ample time to transfer their horses from south to north.

suburbs, conveniently reached in a few minutes by modern highways, fast trains and buses, but rather as the sleepy country district it once was—a day's drive from San Francisco with horse and buggy (or 'horseless carriage') over dusty, rutted roads."

How this viewpoint could be possible in our day of speedlined automobiles, 4-lane highways and daily commuting is a mystery for which S. F. P. I. offers no solution, but the community developers say they are definitely going to do something about it—and "pronto"—in the form of striking, factual advertisements now under preparation, to appear in San Francisco throughout World's Fair year.

ADVERTISING PROGRAM

"While we do not regard this group as our best prospects for Peninsula homes," concluded the local director, "many of them might be persuaded to retire to The Peninsula upon learning that it is not like moving to another state! Actually, they are comparatively few in number, but they certainly need 'education' and they are going to get it—through newspapers, street car cards, outdoor posters, bookets, folders and exhibits at the Fair."

and the popular has always been difficult to define, especially for those who use the term most frequently. Bach employed the popular dance forms of his day and so did Mozart and Beethoven. The waltz was once an anathema, but Tschaikowsky sanctified it symphonically. Today popular music has more variety than ever.

MODERN ENTERTAINMENT

"Every time we turn on the radio we hear some popular band playing the latest hit. Our young people dance to the latest numbers, and since young people like music and dancing, and since the school is the nursery of the young, there is no reason that modern music should not be encouraged. If our school gives a dance we must have a modern band, otherwise our young boys and girls will not enjoy themselves and other entertainments and dances will not be successful.

"A school that has need of a jazz band should supply that need out of its own student body. We have such a need at the Jefferson Union High school, and we are supplying this need out of our own student body. We are having our own students trained to meet their needs.

"This year we secured an instructor for the Modern Language department. To him, in addition to his work in that department, we entrusted the organization of a modern jazz band. He has given complete satisfaction in the task we set him.

"Our band is enthusiastic, well organized, spirited, and efficient. It is capable of supplying music for school dances, entertainments, assemblies, and is contributing substantially to the general amusement and morale of our school. It has created interest and sustained it, and in many cases emphasized the better qualities of those who make up its personnel.

"So what might in the past be considered optional now becomes a necessity for modern demands in educational development."

BUICK CAR SALES IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA NEAR HIGH RECORD FOR MONTH OF NOVEMBER 1938

Deliver Chevrolets To Cypress Lawn

Cypress Lawn Cemetery chose Chevrolets to fill every automobile and truck need of their business, announced M. J. Soldavini, manager of Belli Motor Company, today.

Belli Motor Company delivered thirteen new automobiles and trucks to Cypress Lawn Cemetery this week, continued Soldavini. The order included four sedans, two panel delivery trucks, two coupes, three pick up trucks, and two dump trucks.

Place Orders Now For Xmas Delivery Says Soldavini Of Belli Motor Co.

Retail deliveries of new Buick motor cars in Northern California during November totaled 814 units, exceeding the previous month's all-time high for October by 71 cars, according to figures received yesterday by M. J. Soldavini of the Belli Motor Co., Buick dealer in Daly City and Colma. This was an increase of 9½ per cent over October and was the second largest volume of business in any November for Northern California on record.

Buick registered in third place in the industry in the Northern California zone during November and was outsold by only two low priced makes, Soldavini asserted. Buick also lead the nearest competitor in its price range by a wide margin, he said.

"Orders on hand for immediate delivery are the highest in years, with additional business being booked to indicate a continuation of Buick's sales leadership for the fall and winter seasons," Soldavini stated.

"Even though Buick production has been increased to more closely parallel retail demand, it is still necessary for customers to place orders far enough in advance to enable us to requisition the model, color combination and any special equipment wanted in ample time to fill the requirements completely.

"The number of orders taken the past several weeks and set up for Christmas delivery indicates again this year an active buying spirit in keeping with the trends over the past Holiday seasons, making it advisable for those who will want new Buicks delivered on December 25 to order at once. The record Christmas business we are doing makes this necessary in order to insure getting the model and specifications the customer wants."

Blind Driving Is Not Safe For Autos

WHEN THE WEATHER IS BAD, airplane pilots can fly blind, with the aid of their elaborate instruments. But motorists cannot drive blind. There's no gadget on the dash that can keep the accidents away.

To be safe keep your windshield clear in all kinds of weather. Be sure your rear-view mirror is in good shape and that your rear window isn't blocked by packages piled up in the back of the car.

AND HERE IS A TEN-SECOND reminder from the National Safety Council. In winter driving, never close all the windows of your car, for carbon monoxide from the exhaust may collect, with painful or tragic results.

Remember, too, to keep your garage doors wide open when warming up the car in the morning. Fresh air keeps you safe from carbon monoxide's deadly fumes.

STYLE NOW DOMINANT FACTOR IN SALE DECLARES PRESIDENT STUDEBAKER PAC CORPORATION

Top Engineering And Steady Performance Incorporated In New 1939 Models

Today, more than ever before, the style or eye-appeal of an automobile is the predominant factor influencing sales. The fundamental elements of sound engineering and the consequent performance, economy and long period of satisfactory service are, of course, factors that every car buyer considers, but in most cases are taken for granted.

The buyer expects every modern automobile to have all the power he will ever need—to ride comfortably and to give him and his family a maximum of safety.

When we get right down to the one determining factor in car sales today, we find it to be appearance. The buyer lets emotion or eye-appeal decide which car he will own.

SURVEYS

In designing the 1939 line, Studebaker kept this fact constantly in mind. Not only have we retained the counsel of the best designers, but we have gone to the individual owner to find out what he wants in his automobile. Two types of surveys were conducted by Studebaker. One gathered facts from the dealer organization and Studebaker owners. The other involved personal contacts between highly trained interviewers and drivers of all makes of cars to determine in what direction style trends were moving.

The facts gathered from these surveys were turned over to the engineering department which worked with Raymond Loewy, industrial stylist who is famous for his designs of airplanes, ships and the Broadway Limited, crack streamliner of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

PUBLIC APPROVAL

Raymond Loewy, his staff, and Studebaker's engineers aided by the survey facts have created a car that reflects the good taste of the designers and, judging from increased sales, as well as public comment from every quarter, meets with the approval of the motoring public.

Both the interior and exterior design of the 1939 Studebaker, with its pleasing harmony of line, its simplicity and absence of forced decoration, embodies the smart styling demanded by today's buyer—and the fundamentally sound proportions that are so necessary if a car is to be considered good looking several years to come.

Assist In Stopping America's Massacre

Massacre on America's highways is entering its peak season right now, reports the Safety Department of the National Automobile Club. Rain, ice, early darkness, coupled with the holiday rush, combine with human carelessness to make the month of December a highway horror month for traffic.

Last December the joy of thousands of homes was shattered by the tragedy of a traffic accident and in that report lies a word of caution for every motorist. The National Automobile Club, National Safety Council and a score of other organizations have joined hands to prevent a recurrance of this tragedy this year. These groups ask every motorist and each pedestrian to help maintain during December the 20 per cent reduction in traffic deaths that has prevailed so far this year. If this is done, approximately 3,000 lives will have been saved during 1938.

AUBURN SKI TRAILS

Work has been progressing steadily at the grounds of the Auburn Ski Club this fall, and many miles of new ski trails have been cut through the hills. Also the surrounding slopes have been cleared and A B and C hills are ready for the coming winter. The new club house, available this season, has been built for the accommodation of the ever increasing crowds of winter sports enthusiasts.

Start Construction On Ocean Shore Lap

Bulldozers, "cats," and carryalls Monday bit into the rugged terrain over which the third construction unit of the Ocean Shore highway will pass as N. M. Ball Sons of Berkeley started in earnest the work on their $232,767 contract.

The new section covers 8.1 miles from Davenport to Waddell Creek bridge near the Theodore Hoover ranch. It skirts precipitous Gianone Hill, bugaboo to motorists, and will skirt the ocean cliffs to cut 2.3 miles from the old route.

Henry Simard, resident engineer, estimates that it will require about a year to complete the job. A crew of 50 now at work on clearing operations will be increased to 125 within a few weeks.

The new route will parallel the old route closer to the ocean, eliminating the tortuous Gianone Hill grade. Because of the rugged topography of the country a number of heavy cuts and fills will be made. There will be two double-span culverts along the 8-mile route, 192 and 140 feet long, respectively. One concrete bridge with a 162-foot span will carry traffic over Scotts Creek along the beach.

The completed road will have a 22-foot black top surface.

Studebaker Sales Up In October

Studebaker sales in the state of California for the month of October this year show a 63 per cent increase over sales for the same period in 1937, according to C. K. Whittaker, president of The Studebaker Pacific Corporation.

"The public's acceptance of the 1939 Studebaker is very well indicated by this 63 per cent sales increase in California when we consider that total sales for all other makes in the Studebaker price class averaged 36.7 per cent less than they did in the same period a year ago," Whittaker said.

The price-class used in this comparison is known as Group "A" and includes all makes of cars with a base California delivered price above $1,000.

THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

An editorial in the New York Times, one of America's foremost Democratic dailies, says: "A great number of Americans have been encouraged to believe that it is possible to grow richer by working less and by producing less; that it is the proper business of a government to subsidize large numbers of its people; that there is an inexhaustible supply of money which can be used endlessly for this purpose; that those who advise greater caution in the expenditure of public funds, or who urge a relaxation of restraints which needlessly handicap private enterprise, are merely 'ducal overlords' who stand in the way of all progress. The dangers involved in such a course as this are an eventual bankruptcy of the National Government and encouragement of 'class' prejudice which ought to have no place in the United States."

It then points out that the last election indicates "the American people are moving toward the middle of the road."

The people want social security, where it is necessary. They want adequate provision made for the needy and the elderly. But at the same time they want to keep our institutions, and our democratic heritage, inviolate. Disregarding all political partisanship, that's the best news in a long while.

The groom was attended by his brother Frank Pardini. William Lewis, a brother of the bride, gave her away. A reception for 200 relatives and friends was held in Wolf's Hall in Ocean View following the ceremony.

"To Inculate A Sense Of Personal Obligations"

Under our American form of government, there are three distinct systems of government.

Through the Constitution, the Federal government binds the several states together into a single and indissoluable union. It is the duty of this central government to provide for the general welfare of all of the states. Behind it are the 48 state governments, each a sovereign commonwealth within the limitations provided by the national Constitution. Within each state government there are various municipal or "community" governments.

It is the privilege and duty of every American to take a personal interest in his government, to sponsor its welfare, and to promote its progress.

Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation. There shall no evil become nigh thy dwelling. For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all ways" (Ps. 91: 5, 9-11).

God's thoughts passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect; the inspiration of goodness, purity, and immortality, counteracting all evil, sensuality, and mortality" (p. 581).

GARDENS

"And their souls shall be as a watered garden; and they shall not sorrow any more at all." (Jer. 31:12)

A garden is a cultivated place where things of beauty should grow. There are different kinds of such gardens, and given proper care and attention, each should fulfil the greatest expectations of the gardener.

There are flower gardens of enchantment which invite one to linger within and enjoy the thousand wonders of their beauties. There are vegetable gardens that are no less places of beauty and productivity. But these can only be so when they are properly watered, carefully cultivated and wisely arranged.

The soul is a garden, and how beautiful or productive it is depends upon the individual. In the garden of the soul no one should allow weeds of sinful thoughts and deeds to grow up and choke the plants of usefulness, kindness, and righteous living. Liked a well-watered garden, one's soul should be filled with beauty, joy, and happiness, as a result of patient and careful cultivation of higher thoughts and ideals.

Give heed to the care of the garden of your soul and your spiritual being will be fed, and your life filled with beauty.

Out-of-the-Ordinary Holiday Desserts

Tradition says, of course, that plum pudding, mince pie, and pumpkin pie must always occupy the center of the stage in the dessert scene of the great Christmas feast. But there are plenty of cases where a change would be appreciated, or where a less rich but equally palatable dessert is requried. And anyway, tradition is always in the making! So here are three alternative suggestions, either for the great day itself or the festive occasions that surround it. One is very old, right out of grandmother's own spice-stained "recipe" book. Another is for the moderns who are always interested "in some new thing."

GRANDMOTHER'S OLD-FASHIONED CRACKER PUDDING

2 cups milk, scalded
4 soda crackers
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup raisins
1 cup cream
2 eggs, well beaten
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla

Pour milk over crackers. Cover and let stand until cold. Combine sugar, salt, and cinnamon. Add to milk mixture; add remaining ingredients in order given. Blend and turn into buttered baking dish. Place dish in pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 1¼ hours. Serve warm and with hard sauce if desired. Serves 6-8.

HONEY CHOCOLATE CREAM

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
¼ cup honey
Dash of salt
3 teaspoons boiling water, about
1 cup heavy cream

Cut the chocolate in small pieces. Put in top of a double boiler. Place over hot, not boiling, water and stir occasionally until chocolate is all melted. Remove from hot water. Add honey and salt and blend well. Add boiling water, 1 teaspoon at a time, beating after each addition. Beat until mixture is smooth and satiny. Cool at room temperature until mixture has thickened. Whip cream until thick but not stiff. Blend a small amount with the chocolate mixture and fold into the remaining cream. Turn into a mold or individual molds. Chill one hour. Serve plain. Serves 5.

The uses of this delicious honey chocolate cream are many and varied. It may be used as filling for a large meringue shell or little individual shells, and it is a splendid topping for a serving of angel food cake. By doubling the recipe it may be used as a filling for Honey Chocolate Chiffon Pi...

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A labor-saving dining room has now been paired with the labor-saving kitchen, according to Herbert Neumann and Herbert Struppmann, the winners of the recent Ladies Home Journal small house competition. In their design, which won a prize of $1500, an unusual counter arrangement separates the kitchen from the dining room, making table setting and serving quicker and easier. The counter, which may be concealed by a drop wall when not in use, may also be used as a breakfast table and as a party bar.

The winning house has six rooms, bath, laundry and built-in garage. It has white wood sides and its roof is covered with green asphalt shingles. Mineral wood insulation is also specified to protect it against winter cold and summer heat.

Honey Chocolate Fudge Sauce can be used to glorify a number of desserts, such as vanilla or coffee ice cream or such honey dishes as cottage, rice or bread puddings. Simply omit the cream from the recipe and add an additional tablespoon of honey and two of boiling water. This makes ½ cup of sauce, which may be served hot or cold. If hot, heat it over a pan of hot water.

Unless the state legislature acts to class junior colleges in a division of their own, above high schools, San Mateo and other junior colleges in the state will have to furnish free textbooks to students.

President Charles Morris of San Mateo Junior college thus interpreted the ruling of State Attorney General U. S. Webb this week as the latter ruled that California's junior colleges must furnish free textbooks to students.

Leslie Cleary, district attorney of Stanislaus county, asked for the ruling at the request of Modesto Junior college.

Webb said that the state constitution provides that students of secondary and high schools must be furnished free textbooks and in his opinion students of junior colleges stood in the same category as high school students.

NEWS OF THE SCHOOLS AND P. T. A. ACTIVITIES

Fall Activities At S. M. Jaysee

Three San Mateo junior college gridmen have been named to the all-conference eleven by coaches who met recently in their annual fall conference meeting. Willie Silva of Redwood City, quarterback; Albert Tamborini, right end; and Harold Steirman, left guard, are the Mateans to win the honor.

Soccer men will soon learn who have been named to their all-conference team. The boys did not get their trip south. Last minute news advised that the southern opponents still had too many games to play to take on any extras.

Six-man ski teams will compete for the first time in the junior college conference when the colleges will hold a ski tournament at Cold Springs with Modesto jaysees as the host. February 25-26 will be the date.

With the two fall outdoor sports out of the way, San Mateo has started practice for fall basketball. A number of practice tilts will be played before the college opens its conference season at Santa Rosa January 25.

A number of the students heard Fred Keller, former Loyalist officer in Spain, talk recently at the college on his experiences fighting against Franco's troops. He said that 200 Americans who were in his brigade in Spain are coming home to the Bay area, and that 3000 Americans were in the Loyalist ranks.

Tomorrow, Saturday, the Mateans will hold a sports day with San Jose State, San Francisco State, Marin and San Francisco jaysees sending badminton players to the event.

Next week the college council will meet to consider students who wish to run for office for the spring semester.

The magazine chairman reported Pershing unit was on the roll for state magazine subscriptions. Mrs. Ann Lucus, delegate to district fathers night held in Burlingame in November, reported on that meeting. Mrs. Ann Eason spoke to the members regarding the Toy Symphony, rehearsals held each Monday in the school.

Mrs. M. Calvin was appointed chairman for the Christmas party to be held December 16 in the school.

The December 19 whist party has been postponed until January 18. Mrs. Mazie Boyle will be in charge.

Animal Friendship

In a book, "Adventures Among Birds" written by Mr. W. H. Hudson, the great naturalist, there is a most interesting chapter that has to do with unusual friendships between bird and bird and between bird and animal.

With the birds, the friendship was founded clearly on a desire to save life. The lady who recounted the incident to Mr. Hudson had observed a blackbird and a thrush hopping about together on her lawn. Her curiosity was aroused at the strangeness of the association, so she quietly and carefully watched them, and to her great astonishment she saw that the blackbird was feeding the thrush, and a closer inspection revealed that the thrush had no beak! Evidently the poor little thrush had been caught in a trap and its beak had been cut off completely, and for that reason it would have starved to death but for the kindly help of the blackbird, who inserted into her mouth his beak containing food.

We human beings are accustomed to think of ourselves as superior in every way to our furred and feathered friends, but a comparison of these two acts makes us wonder! The human being set a trap that inflicted such a cruel injury that this bird would have died of starvation had not another bird, not even of its own species, come to the rescue, remaining with it and feeding it as it fed itself.

Will Be Hosts For Conference

The Executive Board of Jefferson Union high school P. T. A. met Wednesday at the high school. Plans were made and committees appointed for the north end conference which will be held at the Jefferson Union high school on January 13. This will be an all day session. Mrs. Susie Sanders, president of Jefferson Union high school P. T. A., is general chairman.

The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, December 13 in the little theatre. Mrs. H. V. Henry, past state chairman of education, will be the main speaker. Men are especially invited to attend.

that at Fort Rosecrans in San Diego, which are the national cemeteries now existent on the Pacific Coast.

The property purchased by the government fronts 1400 feet along El Camino Real and 3600 feet along Sneath Lane, which runs almost directly into the front gate of the San Bruno race track.

SNEATH ESTATE

The property thus takes in the Sneath Estate, which has been in possession of that family since 1875.

The westerly boundary of the new cemetery will be the new extension of Junipero Serra boulevard.

The cemetery will therefore be visible not only to motorists passing along El Camino Real but also to those who in the not so distant future will be driving along the Junipero Serra extension to Burlingame.

Included in the deal is the large parking lot which has been used by racing fans attending Tanforan.

The large part of the property is grazing land used by the dairy company.

The quartermasters corps division at the San Francisco Presidio reported that an engineer from Washington was now in San Francisco to make plans for landscaping the property, much as is the Presidio cemetery at San Francisco.

Approximately $100,000 has been appropriated for landscaping, erection of an office, superintendent's lodge, and chapel at the new cemetery.

Advised To Take Southern Routes

Transcontinental travelers to the Middle West or eastern points are advised by the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club, to take one of the most popular southern routes. While the various highway departments of the states, through which the better known northern routes pass, make every effort to keep the roads open and maintain them, there are sometimes periods of several days where the roads are blocked by heavy drifts and it is impossible for traffic to get through.

Ordinarily, the main highways are kept open and are in travelable condition but the uncertain element of weather conditions is always a hazard during winter. All motorists are advised to carry tire chains, regardless of which route taken.

BERLIN WRITES STORY RAGTIME BAND

Irving Berlin is wondering if he will be considered somewhat of a traitor to the songwriting world.

This world-famous composer was induced to write the original story for the spectacular production of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," coming Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday to Daly City Theater.

But when he handed it in, instead of the emphasis being on music, the story predominantly stressed the dramatic theme.

Began In 1911

Starting with the time—1911—in which he composed his first big international song hit, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," Berlin carried the sweeping drama through the World War years up to the present.

Although the story centers around Alexander (played by Tyrone Power) and his sensational band, which he developed on the colorful Barbary Coast, most of the action of the story takes place in high emotional scenes in San Francisco; New York's Greenwich Village; a New York theatre; a London theatre, and Carnegie Hall.

Story of Ragtime Era

For almost three decades, the drama depicts forces that brought about the development of ragtime, jazz and swing music—realism that Berlin saw and got to know during the years when he was turning out song hits that made his name known throughout the world.

Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Ethel Merman, Jack Haley and other noted players head the cast of the dramatic production under the direction of Henry King. The companion feature will be "Smashing the Rackets," with Chester Morris.

BRIDAL SHOWER

"Assassins of Youth" Held At Capitol

Held over for a second week by popular demand, "Assassins of Youth," hailed as the most sensational expose ever filmed, continues its successful run at the Capitol Follies, Ellis near Market street in downtown San Francisco. The film deals with the wild petting parties into which marijuana, the "assassin" drug, leads its helpless victims. It omits nothing in its stark portrayal of the wild reefer parties and frustrated lives that are led by users of the powerful drug.

An entirely new burlesque stage show, boasting a cast of 68 people, opens this week end, and every Friday, at the Capitol Follies. Heading the cast of stars are Miss Jewel Southern and Miss Peggy Hill, in addition to comics, "straight men," and an elaborate beauty chorus.

The Capitol Follies presents an extra big midnight show every Saturday night, in addition to three complete shows daily.
